Most of the exhibiting companies already support other Cosmoprof shows across the globe. They are now reposing faith in the Cosmoprof India Preview as a superior platform to take advantage of the business opportunities in the Indian beauty sector, as well as satisfy the needs of the rapidly developing domestic market. The expo hopes to infuse a new direction to the dynamic local market, which combines increasing disposable income of the consumers with a strong impulse to innovate and research.

The Indian sub-continent is keen to discover finished world-class beauty products that are now in demand among a broader base of consumers. Further, networking with leading international brands and suppliers providing new industrial, service and packaging solutions is sure to help enhance local production, introducing to India innovative technologies and superior quality standards that are a requirement at the international level. An expo of the stature of Cosmoprof will greatly facilitate the development of the domestic beauty ingredients and products manufacturing industry, which can then truly compete with the best, globally.

The Cosmoprof India Preview in Mumbai will showcase all the sectors of the cosmetic industry: make up, skincare, body care, hair care, perfumery & cosmetics, aesthetics & spa, nail, accessories, as well as furniture for hair and beauty salons, among others.

To ensure the quality of the event, top-of-the-line seminars, workshops, research work and content are in the process of being planned, keeping in mind the needs of manufacturers, buyers, distributors and retailers. For this, Cosmoprof India is collaborating with reputed international brand partners. These include Beautystreams, a trends agency that provides consulting projects and development of market lines for the most important international brands; centdegrés, a design agency that boasts collaborations with the largest global corporations; Ecovia, a research organization, offering consultancy and analysis services, with a special focus on the green market and ethical industry; and Euromonitor, one of the most referenced market research company in the world, among others.
